

Jesus Heals The Nobleman's Son

A nobleman came to Jesus and asked Him to come home with him to heal his son. Jesus said, "Go your way; your son lives." The man believed Jesus and went home. On the way home, a servant came to the nobleman and said, "Your son lives!" The nobleman asked what time it was when his son got well. The servant said, "Yesterday at the seventh hour." The nobleman knew that was the same time that Jesus said, "Your son lives."

John 4:46-54

Print this page and the scenery/flap page on cardstock. Print the pictures of the servant and the son on regular copy paper. Cut 2 background pictures so no white is showing on edges. Fold in half. Glue the right half of the top picture to the left half of the bottom picture. This makes a flap that when moved to the right shows the scene of Jesus talking to the nobleman and when moved to the left shows the scene of the nobleman arriving at his house. Glue to the bottom half of this page (covering up these words). Cut out servant/son. During class, let the students glue the servant/son on the right side of the scene where the nobleman is arriving home.
